DETAILED ACTION

1. Upon further consideration, the allowability of claims 2, 3, and 8 has been withdrawn. A new rejection is set forth below. The examiner regrets any inconvenience this may cause.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 4-7, 10, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Horvereid (3,052,478).

Horvereid discloses an elastomeric seal that is annular about an axis. The seal has a symmetric cross-section with respect to a centerline and has a generally X-shaped cross-section (from legs/tips 14). The seal can be elastically deformed when axially compressed. Protrusions 20 extend from an intersection of the legs farther than and parallel to a plane connecting the end portions 14 of the legs (see col. 3, lines 29-32). The seal is capable of being used in a track between a bushing and link (intended use). And, one of the protrusions 21 would contact the bushing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Horvereid in view of Kramer (3,918,726).

Horvereid does not disclose an embedding portion in the seal. Kramer teaches a seal with an embedded insert to resist extrusion, abrasion, and deformation. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the seal of Horvereid with the embedding portion taught by Kramer to improve the seal's resistance to extrusion, abrasion, and deformation.

Conclusion

6. As stated above, the allowability of the claims has been withdrawn. Horvereid (in view of Kramer) discloses all of the claimed limitations required by the claims and is capable of the intended use of the seal (i.e. in an endless track).

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
